

THE PROBLEM

Despite 97% of the US population being technically eligible to invest in private assets—the fastest-growing asset class—less than 2% actually do. Meanwhile, less than 0.5% of Black founders received venture capital in Q2 2025.* A $14 trillion wealth gap is being fed from both sides: founders who can't access capital, and communities locked out of private investment.

THE SOLUTION

Sengo is a platform reimagining fundraising and investing through community, education, and access. We help people make investments in private companies, and we help founders package themselves to receive them. Other platforms service transactions or provide one-sided support. Sengo builds economies—transforming social capital into financial capital.
